

A photograph of a white ceramic cup and saucer with a silver spoon, set against a dark green background. The cup is on a wooden surface. The text "divine dialogue" is overlaid on the image, with "divine" in white and "dialogue" in green.

divine dialogue

the unsettling silence of God

It's a story of Contrast not similarities

The Judge is not God
And you are not a no-named widow

God is not an angry, indifferent ruler disregarding the needs of His people

You are not a no-name number reduced to the task of pestering
God

Keep praying...

- because God is interested in you

Prayer is not overcoming God's reluctance ... it is laying hold of his highest willingness.

—Archbishop Richard Trench

Keep praying...

- because God is interested in you
- because God loves to make changes in you
- because there are things that God has made dependent upon you
